HINTS FOR HARD TIMES.—Credit never permits a man to know the real value of money, nor to have full control over his affairs. It presents all his expenses in the aggregate and not in detail. Every one has more or less of the miser's love of money—of the actual gold pieces and the crisp bank notes. Now, if you have these things in your pocket, you see them as you make your purchases, visibly diminishing under your eye. The lessening heap cries to you to stop. You would like to buy this, that, and the other; but you know exactly how much money you have left, and if you go on buying more things your purse will soon be empty. You do not see this when you take credit. You give your orders freely, without thought or calculation; and when the day of payment comes, you find that you have overrun the constable. On every hand we see people living on credit, putting off pay-day to the last, making in the end some desperate effort, either by begging or borrowing, to scrape the money together, and then struggle on again, with the canker of care eating at their heart, to the inevitable goal of bankruptcy. If people would only make a push at the beginning, instead of the end, they would save themselves all this misery. The great secret of being solvent, and well to do, and comfortable, is to pay what you owe, and to drink this month what you earned last month—not what you are going to earn next month. There are, no doubt, many persons so unfortunately situated that they can never accomplish this. No man can guard against ill-health; no man can insure himself a well-conducted, helpful family, or a permanent income. There will always be people who cannot help their misfortunes. But, as a rule, these unfortunates are far less trouble to society than those in a better position who bring their misfortunes upon themselves by deliberate recklessness and extravagance. You may help a poor, honest, struggling man to some purpose. But the utmost you can do for a spendthrift is thrown away. You give him money you have earned by hard labor—he spends it in pleasure which you have never permitted yourself to enjoy. The best pleasures; those which sweeten life most, and leave no bitterness behind—are cheap pleasures. What greater pleasure can a man enjoy than the sense of being free and independent? The man with his fine house, his glittering carriage, and his rich banquets, for which he is in debt, is a slave, a prisoner, forever dragging his chains behind him through all the grandeur of the false world through which he moves.—All the Year Round.

SLAVERY—the curse of American civilization, the cause of the war, the victim of the war—is now not only abolished by military necessity, but prohibited by law.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION-VEDETTE.]

Washington, March 12th.

The Richmond Despatch of Friday, contains the following dispatch from Lee:

Head-Quarters, March 9th.

To Breckenridge:—Bragg reports he attacked the enemy yesterday, four miles in front of Kinston, and drove him from his position. He disputed the ground obstinately and took up a new line three miles from his first. We captured three pieces of artillery, 1,500 prisoners. The number of the enemy's dead and wounded left on the field is large; ours comparatively small. The troops behaved most handsomely. Gens. Hill and Hoke exhibited their usual zeal and energy.

(Signed.) LEE.

Kinston, near which the fight occurred, is situated on the direct route from Goldsboro to Newbern, and is about twenty miles east of Goldsboro and about thirty from Newbern. It is supposed this force of the enemy was advancing from Newbern against Goldsboro for the purpose of cutting the railroad at that point. It is not probable, after this repulse, that the enemy will attempt to advance. It is likely we shall next hear of them falling back on Newbern or changing their course to some other point of the compass. This movement of the enemy was evidently designed to be co-operative with Sherman.

New York, March 12th.

The Herald prints a letter from Sherman to Wade Hampton stating, that in consequence of foraging parties having been murdered by rebels after being captured and labels attached to them "Death to all foragers," that he has ordered a similar number of prisoners in our hands to be disposed of in like manner, that he holds 1,000 rebel prisoners. General responds, that he knows nothing of such murders, and that for every soldier executed by Sherman, he will execute Federals, picking out officers as first victims. He makes a long story about barbarity alleged to be practiced by Sherman's army and concludes by stating, that he shall hold 50 prisoners as hostages for those ordered to be executed by Sherman.

New York, March 12th.

Rebel despatch, dated Mobile Feb. 28, says: 22 steamers and 6 Miss. River transports are in the lower Bay and a large number of troops on Daspine Island and at Pensacola, indicating an early attack on the City.

A New Orleans letter of the 27th ult. announces the arrival there of 25,000 exchanged prisoners from Texas, including a number of naval officers.

Rebel papers have articles requiring the passage of the new enlistment act, saying, it is a measure of necessity, not of choice.

Wigfall, during a debate, denounced the Legislature of Virginia, and demanded the resignation of Jeff. Davis. A speech of Senator Hunter in the rebel Senate, is printed. He voted for the bill to arm and emancipate negroes, under instructions from the Virginia legislature, but entered his protest against it, as an abandonment of the contest, and of the ground upon which the South seceded. He also showed from statistics, that no considerable body of negro troops could be raised in the States over which Gov't had control, without stripping the country of labor absolutely necessary to produce food, and stated that the command of conscripts, with the authority to impress 20,000 slaves, had, since last September, been able to get but 4,000, of whom 3,500 were from Virginia and N. Carolina, and the balance from Alabama. Hunter also argued that negroes would not volunteer; those we did get, would desert to the enemy, who can offer them better prices.

Washington, March 12th.

J. G. Nicolay, the President's Private Secretary, was nominated yesterday for the post of Consul to Paris, to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of John Bigelow, late incumbent to the post of Charge de Affairs at the French Court. The nomination was unanimously confirmed.

The Senate confirmed Geo. D. Hill, of Michigan, for Surveyor General of Decatur Territory, and Lyman E. Munson, of Connecticut, for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court for the Territory of Montana. The following were confirmed as judicial officers for the United States Courts of Nevada: A. W. Baldwin, Judge; Robert M. Clark, Attorney, and Edwin Irvine, Marshall.

Cairo, March 12th.

Over two millions dollars worth of goods and property was destroyed at Eastport, Miss., by the flood of the Tennessee River.

The rebels held possession of Hickman, Ky.

The steamer Post Boy was totally destroyed by bursting her boiler twenty five miles above New Orleans, on the 5th; two lives lost.

New York, March 13th.

The Herald's New Orleans letters says: Juarez is reported to be advancing on Matamoras with 3,000 men. Mejia, with 1,000, is afraid he will be compelled to surrender. He sent out Cartaria with a regiment to check his progress, but Cartaria surrendered his whole force of Mexicans to Juarez. The reason given for this is, that Maximilian agreed to give Cortinas half a million dollars, provided he turned over his command to the Imperial Government; but after he had consented, he refused to pay him. The Imperialists are becoming alarmed at the increasing force of the Liberals and their troops in the service of Maximilian.

Slaughter, commanding the rebel force on the Rio Grande, is said to have received reinforcements to the number of 1,100 men. Of late the rebels feared that the Union forces at Brazos Santiago were making preparations to advance upon the town. The valuables of the place were moved to Corpus Christi.

Another skirmish between Sherman's cavalry and the force under Wade Hampton on the 3d inst., at a point not named, is reported in the Richmond papers. Col. Aiken was killed and Hampton's Adj't General wounded. These are all the particulars of the affair.

The Richmond Examiner is informed, by a rebel officer from South Carolina, that Sherman has completely devastated that portion of the State through which he passed. This officer says he has not spared a house in his track.

Gen. Emery, of the 19th corps, has succeeded Gen. Hancock as commander of the Middle Military Department, comprising the lower part of the Shenandoah valley and other territory in that region, during the continuance of Gen. Sheridan's more active field operations. A greater part of the rebel troops in the Shenandoah valley have been concentrated in the vicinity of Lynchburg, which place some accounts represent they were still strengthening at a very recent date, with the probable design of affording Lee another good point to fall back to when Richmond and Petersburg shall become untenable. Large supplies of food for the needy residents furnished by the Shenandoah Relief Association, have arrived in the Shenandoah valley.

The Richmond journals of last Friday announced that the removal of gold belonging to the banks in that city, had already commenced, and in the strongest language the Legislature and people are called upon to put a stop to this export of precious metal, on the ground that if removed, it will nearly all get into the hands of the Yankees, and that upon its retention depends the very safety of the rebel capital itself.

The Richmond editors are very angry over the recent seizure at Fredericksburg, Virginia, by the National troops, of some 200,000 pounds of tobacco, which had been sent from Petersburg. They say there was understood to be an agreement on both sides that tobacco should go safely through their lines and that they should receive bacon in return for it, and consider the capture a Yankee trick with which Singleton, who has been in Richmond for some time past, is suspected of having had something to do.

The Richmond Examiner of the 10th, says: The latest advices from Lynchburg, show that the place is safe. The same paper complained of injustice done to soldiers by withholding their pay.

The Herald's Baton Rouge correspondent of the 3d says: Gen. Baily had gone on a raid to the interior the results of which have not transpired.

The exchange of prisoners at the mouth of Red River continued. Gen. McKean has relieved Gen. Ullman in command at Morgansa.

The Herald's special says, the War Department attaches very little importance to Bragg's reported success in N. C. as the force captured must have been only a construction party accompanied by a small force as guard and they were opening the Atlantic and N. C. railroad. Head-Quarters, M. M. Division, Va. } March 10th. }

To GRANT—In my last dated at Waynesboro, I gave you a brief account of the defeat of Early by Custer's division, on the same night the division was pushed across the Blue Ridge and entered Charlottesville, at two in the afternoon of the next day, the Mayor and the principal inhabitants of the city fled and I had to remain at Charlottesville two days. The time was consumed in bringing over from Waynesboro our ammunition and pontoon trains. The weather was horrible and the rain incessant. The two divisions were during this time occupied in destroying the two large iron bridges one over the Rowena, the other over Moses Creek near Charlottesville and the railroad for the distance of eight miles in the direction of Lynchburg. On the sixth of March, I sent the first division Gen. Divine commanding to Scottsville on the James river with directions to sent out light parties through the country and destroy all merchandise, mills, factories and bridges on the Rappahannock river, said parties to gain the division at Scottsville. The division then proceeded along the canal to Duguidesville 15 miles from Lynchburg, destroying every lock and in many places the bank of the canal. At Duguidesville we hoped to secure the bridge to cross the river as our pontons were useless on account of high water. On this we were foiled, as both, this bridge, and the bridge at Hardwicksville were burned by the rebels upon our approach. Merritt accompanied this division.

The third division started at the same time from Charlottesville, and proceeded down the Lynchburg Railroad to the Amport Court House, destroying every bridge on the road and in many places miles of the road. The bridges on this road are numerous, none of them 500 feet in length. We found great abundance in this country for our men and animals; in fact the canal had been a great feeder of Richmond, and at Rockfish River the bank of the canal was out and at New Canton, where a dam is across the James, the guard lock was destroyed and the James River let into the canal, carrying away the bank and washing out the bottom of the canal. A dam across the James at this point was partially destroyed. I have had no opposition; everybody is bewildered by our movements; have had no news of any kind since I left. The bridges on the railroad from Swoops depot on the other side of Staunton to Charlottesville, were utterly destroyed; also the bridges for the distance of ten miles on the Gordonsville Railroad. The weather has been very bad indeed, raining hard every day with the exception of four days. Since we started, my wagons have, from the state of the roads, detained me. Up to the present time we have captured fourteen pieces of artillery, eleven at Waynesboro and three at Charlottesville. The party I sent back from Waynesboro started with six pieces, but were obliged to destroy two of the six for want of animals. The remaining eight pieces were thoroughly destroyed. We have also captured twelve canal boats, laden with supplies, ammunition, rations, medical stores, etc. Commodore Holmes, of the rebel navy, was shot near Gordonsville, while attempting to make his escape from our advance in that direction.

(Signed)

SHERIDAN.

Newbern, March 9th.

Maj.-Gen. Schofield and Brevet Brig. Gen. Schofield and staff have arrived here, having left Wilmington on Monday last. They bring no news from Sherman. The enemy's papers are equally ignorant of Sherman's whereabouts. The roads are bad, which delays his progress somewhat. The enemy are in considerable force at Kinston, N. C., having been recently reinforced; and Lee's corps from Hood's army is reported there. Yesterday the enemy captured some of our skirmishers, near Kinston, belonging to the 15th Conn. forces, at Kinston. Maj. Gen. Cox is in command of our forces at that point. The weather is very warm.

New York, 12th.

The Tribune's Wilmington correspondent, of the 7th, says: Advices deemed trustworthy, state that Sherman's army passed into N. Carolina, at least by the 3d.

The rebel forces, under Hardee, were reported lying on two sides of the Pedee, which river Sherman successfully crossed, placing himself between Hardee and Beauregard.

Cairo, March 13th.

A few days ago, Gen. Baley made a forward movement from Baton Rouge, through Louisiana and Miss., with about 3,000 cavalry, well supported with artillery, and when last heard from, he had captured Clinton, La.

Louisville, 13th.

An expedition of fifty men was sent from here, on Saturday, which surrounded, yesterday morning, a barn in Webster, Meade county, capturing Sue Munday, Magruder and Henry Metcalf, after some resistance; in which three of our men were slightly, and a fourth mortally wounded. Magruder is suffering from his recent wound, and is not likely to recover.

New York, 13th.

The Times' Shenandoah correspondent says: Among the papers found in Early's baggage, was a letter from Jeff. Davis, in reply to the petition of the soldiers, to have the war brought to a close. They had fought four years, and accomplished nothing. Davis' reply is characteristic; he simply expresses the hope that it doesn't represent the feeling of the majority of his men.

Philadelphia, March 13th.

The Bulletin's Washington special says: A letter dated near Kinston the 10th, received here at noon to-day, says that on the 9th Bragg again attacked Cox's force, making two separate assaults, which were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Butcher's division of the second corps captured one piece of artillery and 200 prisoners. The enemy left the field in confusion, and all their killed and wounded fell into our hands.

Newbern, N. C., Mch. 11th, 9 A. M.

By Mail—The enemy elated with the capture of two or three small guns, and a line of skirmishers in our front made several charges yesterday of a most reckless character, in which they were repulsed each time with heavy loss. Our forces were well entrenched and are now within three miles of Kinston, to which point the railroad is now complete. The enemy continue to receive reinforcements and evidently intend to make a stubborn resistance at Kinston. Couch's division from Wilmington communicated with Cox last night, from Beaver Dam, a point he had just reached, which is eight miles from Cox's head-quarters. Couch joins Cox's forces this morning, which indicates a battle to-day. The enemy shows signs of weakness and will doubtless fall back to the other side of Neuse River and make a stand. In Kinston the enemy is supposed to number from 15 to 20,000. A rebel ram is stationed at Kinston to protect the bridge across the Neuse, which is quite an extensive structure. It is reported by deserters that Gen. R. E. Lee and Gen. Breckenridge, from Richmond, had visited Kinston and gave instructions. Schofield remains in the field with Gen. Cox, giving every movement his personal attention. The enemy are much alarmed and mystified with regard to Sherman's movements. We expect to hear from him in a day or two.

New York, March 13th.

By the steamer Hausa, from Liverpool the 1st:

The Times hopes that the public have fully digested the official intelligence of the feuds and propositions of terminating the American war by the Cabinet attack of the belligerent on some foreign power, most probably England rather than France. We must admit that the scheme of extrinsic policy which the confederate envoys seemed chiefly to favor, shows considerable ingenuity to the confederate interests and by the time the extrinsic policy had been carried into execution and ended, the Federals would have become accustomed to live without the confederates, seeing in the Southern Republic only a kindred State and natural ally. Seward has most considerably forewarned us and it will be our fault if not found forearmed.

West Fork, March 10th.

To GRANT—The enemy made a heavy attack on our center and left to-day but was decisively repulsed with heavy loss and his dead and badly wounded were left on the field. We also took several hundred prisoners, our loss is small. Gen. Couch is only 12 miles from here tonight and will be up early in the morning. We took prisoners from Lee's and Steward's corps; they say the second corps are here and the rest of Johnston's army are coming.

(Signed)

SCHOFIELD.

The following was taken from to-days Richmond papers.

Head-Quarters, March 10th.

To Breckenridge—Hampton attacked Kilpatrick at day light this morning and drove him from his Camp, taking his guns, wagons, many horses and several hundred prisoners; relieving a great number of our own men who had been captured. The guns and wagons could not be brought off for want of horses. Many of the enemy were killed and wounded. Our loss was not heavy. Lt. Col. S. King was killed and Brig. Gen. Hume and Cols. Kugan and Morrison wounded.

Head-Quarters, March 9th.—To Breckenridge: Gen. Rosser reports that on the 6th, with a few of his men, he attacked the enemy, near Harrisonburg, who were guarding the prisoners taken at Waynesboro. We captured a few prisoners, and on the morning of the 7th he again attacked them near Reed's Hill, having detained them for a day and night at the river, and caused them to retire in haste, abandoning their only piece of artillery which they had in their ambulances. We annoyed them a good deal, and enabled a good many of our men to escape.

New York, 14th.

The Times editorially thinks it probable that Sheridan has moved from Columbia to join Grant, by crossing the James river and the South Side railroad. A returned Union prisoner, who reached Annapolis to day, direct from Richmond, communicates some interesting intelligence in relation to affairs at Richmond and Sheridan's movements. On Saturday night last, Richmond was thrown into an intense excitement by the announcement that Sheridan was near the City. The alarm bells were rung, all the Home Guards and every available man that could be spared hurried off to repel the Yankees, who were said to be at Beaver Mills' aqueduct, on the James river, some 20 miles from the City, and destroying the canal. The excitement continued all night and increased to a panic throughout Sunday, down to Monday morning; and when he left the alarm still prevailed. It was understood that Sheridan had succeeded in the destruction of the aqueduct—blowing it up with gun-powder. And it would take at least six months to repair the damage done.

During Sunday afternoon Pickett's division passed Castle Thunder in great haste to meet Sheridan. There was a ferry at Aqueduct and it was believed that Sheridan's purpose was to cross the James and strike the Danville railroad near Coalfields, where there is an extensive bridge, destroy that and thus complete his destruction of the communication with Richmond, then make a junction with Grant. Movements indicative of preparations for the abandonment of Richmond, have been in progress for some time. The heavy machinery for the manufacture of iron has been removed; also the machinery of the percussion cap manufactory. Carpenters in town are at work filling large government orders for packing boxes.

New York, March 14th.
The Times' army of the Potomac special says: No military news and fine weather. It gives a prospect of a movement, and it is pretty well established that another considerable portion of Lee's army, comprising Mahon's division, left our front last night, supposed to have been sent to arrest the movements of Sheridan.

New York, March 15th.
The Herald's Newbern correspondent of March 11th, says: Some of the heaviest fighting has been since the corps commanded by Gen. Cox reached the vicinity of Kinston. It occurred on Friday, and the rebels evidently learned that Couch with a portion of the 23rd corps was not far off and would soon join Cox, and it urged them to extraordinary desperation. They charged, again and again, our works making ten or twelve separate charges. Through the day they spent their fury on our left, but some of the time would charge on our entire line, vainly hoping that the momentum of so large a body would break down everything. Our men however, stood their ground heroically, as attested by the piles of slain rebels lying before our works in various directions. The enemy also fought with valor worthy a better cause. Friday night and Saturday morning, Couch's forces came up from towards Wilmington and effected a junction with Cox, which gave us the advantage of course, of which the rebels were not slow to become informed; so they at once began to fall back, abandoning all further opposition this side of Neuse river. They are now on the north side of the river with a bridge that crosses over to Kinston partially burned. The much talked of ram, Neuse, was also partially destroyed. Our forces followed them up vigorously and will doubtless prepare to cross the river a once by means of pontoon bridges or by re-laying new timbers over the old bridge for the cars to pass over. I apprehend there will be no difficulty now in driving the rebels back from any point where they may see fit to make a stand.

The Herald's Washington special says: A letter from Schofield's headquarters, dated Newbern, 11th, says, this morning Hoke attempted to break our lines, but was repulsed with terrible slaughter. Our own loss is not more than 3 or 400 killed and wounded. The rebel loss in killed, wounded and prisoners is eight times greater. We have possession of the field, and the rebel dead and wounded are in our hands. Sanitary supplies are abundant and at the front. The Sanitary Commission has sent to Newbern one hundred thousand dollars worth of supplies and is loading several more vessels for the same destination. Newbern is to be made a depot for Sanitary supplies for the armies in North Carolina.

New York, March 15th.
The Richmond papers show that the rebel Congress, which was to adjourn last Saturday, have, at the request of Jeff. Davis, postponed the adjournment. He informed them that he expected to have something of importance to lay before them.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY. To-day, there will probably be one of the finest processions that has ever paraded in our Camp. The extensive preparations for so long a time making, have arrived at completion and all the requisite arrangements have been made by the Fenian Brotherhood of Camp Douglas, to make this day in the fullest sense of the word, the scene of the grandest and most imposing that has ever been witnessed in our vicinity. We have been kindly furnished with the order of arrangements which we publish below.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD PROCESSION.

The members of the Camp Douglas Circle, Fenian Brotherhood will meet at their hall at 10 o'clock A. M. this day.

Soldiers will dress in full uniform; The Brotherhood will prepare in procession and march to the Camp Theater preceded by the Post Brass Band.

On arriving at the Theater, the dying speech of the Irish Patriot, R. Emmet will be read, after which an appropriate Air will be played by the Band.

Capt. Chas. H. Hempstead, will deliver the oration.

A cordial invitation is extended to all. This evening the Brotherhood will give a "grand Ball" on a scale of magnificence, both in the decorations and completeness of arrangements never before arrived at in our Camp.

SIGNIFICANT.—In the U. S. District Court, Hon. Chief Justice Titus presiding, on Wednesday morning last a resident of Salt Lake City, presented himself for admission as a citizen of the United States. His application was made in due form, and satisfactory evidence of loyalty and respectability given. His Honor then said, addressing the applicant: Mr. ——"I will now ask you a question that you may answer or not as you please. Have you since the passage of an act by Congress of the U. S. in the year 1862 in relation to Polygamy, violated any of its provisions? (Answer) No Sir! Then I admit you as a citizen. That Court knows itself.

THE ADVANTAGE OF PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE.—A ludicrous story is told of Lord Camden being on a visit to Lord Dacre, in Essex, and accompanying a gentleman notorious for his absence of mind, in a walk, during which they came to the parish stocks. Having a wish to know the nature of the punishment, the Chief Justice begged his companion to open them so that he might try. This being done, his friend sauntered on, and totally forgot him. The imprisoned Chief tried in vain to release himself, and on asking a peasant who was passing by to let him out, was laughed at and told he "wasn't set there for nothing." He was soon set at liberty by the servant of his host; and afterwards, on trial of an action for false imprisonment against a magistrate by some fellow whom he had set in the stocks, on the counsel for the defendant ridiculing the charge and declaring it was no punishment at all, his lordship leaned over and whispered, "Brother, were you ever in the stocks?" The counsel indignantly replied, "Never, my lord." "Then I have been," said the Chief Justice, "and can assure you it is not the trifle you represent it."—The Judges of England.

SAVED "FOR SEED."—An Atlanta correspondent of the Mobile Register states a fact which shows how destructive the war has been on the rebels. He says:

I brought about thirty-five men with me from Baldwin county. Of these, only one is left (Frank Sutton), and I have given him a bombproof polish to keep the Yankees from killing him. I will save him for seed.

AMONG FIVE HUNDRED PRISONERS captured by Sheridan, was a rebel Colonel, commanding a brigade. When brought in he threw down his sword at the feet of the Provost Marshal, exclaiming: "The Confederacy has gone to hell! The men won't fight any more—neither will I."

DR. S. G. HOWE says the statue of the late Horace Mann, in bronze, designed to be placed in front of the State House, at Boston, Massachusetts, will probably be ready for delivery early in the summer.

NOBLE NEGROES.—Governor Andrews has commissioned three negro soldiers who were given medals for gallant conduct in storming Fort Wagner, and whom Gen. Foster recommended for Second Lieutenants.

A SUMMONER OF JURORS.—A rovereing, given by an author whom the S. J. had already summoned nine times in ten months, knowing that he was good pay for exemption.

Agambler, who had been thrown out of the window for cheating at cards, was counseled by his friends "never to play again except on the ground floor."
